

Enhanced Site Launch for Ecosystem Commercial Readiness

JULY 25, 2026

The Ciphex Capital Ecosystem ("Ciphex") continues advancing the commercialization of its ecosystem, products, and services with the launch of its professionally developed commercial website, strengthening the Ciphex brand and establishing a platform designed to support commercial growth, market engagement, and long-term expansion. The website has been structured to provide a clearer understanding of the Ciphex ecosystem, its products, services, commercial activities, and strategic market opportunities, while presenting the commercial purpose of the ecosystem ahead of the technologies that enable it.

The enhanced Insights and Publications section introduces a growing library of professionally commissioned publications, along with a security feature that allows readers to connect their wallet to access their preferred publication for download, further infusing the process with industry authenticity and publication security. This library of commissioned publications communicates Ciphex's market opportunity, commercialization strategy, governance framework, regulatory and operating policies, and other material information in a clear, balanced, and harmonious manner, consistent with applicable regulatory disclosure standards.

Additional publications and supporting materials will be introduced as Ciphex advances its commercialization, expands business development activities, increases marketing and awareness, strengthens ecosystem participation and engagement, progressing toward broader market entry and digital asset listing initiatives.
